

AUSTRIANS LOSE 250,000 MEN

HUNS HOPE THE ALLIES WILL OFFER PEACE

Amsterdam, June 26.—There was a complete absence of enthusiasm both by the speaker and the audience, during the foreign minister Von Kuehlmann's speech in Reichstag, according to a Berlin despatch to the Hand elsbled.

"A spirit of pessimism and firm resolution," prevailed the house dispatch said. The most of the speech was heard in silence. Chancellor Von Hertling, made a brief address in which he said that when he recently spoke concerning peace, it was regarded by the allies as a symptom of weakness and a "crafty trap," the same dispatch said. When he spoke of Germany's "unshakable will" he was accused of voicing German militarism, he said.

"In principle, I agreed to four of the principles of President Wilson's message of Feb. 11 Von Hertling said. He declared it was a possible basis of peace, but as Wilson had not replied, there was "no use of continuing the spinning of the threads thus started."

There is still less object," he said, "After statements made since that time, especially from America."

In the course of Von Kuehlmann's speech, the Foreign Minister said: "We hope our enemies will find their way in the course of time to approach us with an offer of peace corresponding to the situation and to the necessities of German life."

"What Germany wants is to live strong and freely within its historic features. We want overseas possessions corresponding with our wealth and greatness, and liberty to carry our commerce throughout the world."

"The military initiative was not ours. We can hope that the summer and autumn will bring us a new and great success. A wide survey of the situation forces one to ask whether the war will last beyond the winter, or beyond next year. The idea is abroad that we had never reckoned on a long war. That is incorrect."

AMERICANS TAKE 150 HUNS CAPTIVE

Paris, June 26.—"A brilliant American operation in Belleau wood," and successful French raids on the various portions of the front were reported by the French war office today.

French raids in the Mailly-Reneval, Melicouq, Vinly, Cornillet and Lorraine regions resulted in the capture of prisoners and machine guns," the communique said.

"Another German attempt against our positions north of Le Port was repulsed."

"American units conducted a brilliant detail operation in Belleau wood last night. One hundred and fifty prisoners, including a captain already are numbered."

SECRETARY BAKER, BLINDFOLDED, WILL DRAW FIRST DRAFT NUMBER

Washington, June 26.—Drawing of order numbers for the 800,000 men who registered for military service last June 5 will be held Thursday in the same committee room in the Senate office building in which the first great national lottery was held a little more than a year ago.

Invitations to attend the drawing have been sent to all important Government officials and to members of the Military Committee of both the Senate and House. Secretary Baker, blindfolded, will draw the first number from the bowl at 9:30 a. m. and the selection will continue until all the capsules containing the master numbers have been removed.

Last year 10,500 numbers were used and the drawing continued for 17 hours. With a maximum of 1,200 men estimated from the district showing the largest registration of June 5 it is expected that the second lottery will be completed within three hours.

Establishment of five classes for the registrants, fixing relative liability for service, will make Thursday's drawing of far less importance even to the men directly concerned than was that of a year ago. The order in which a registrant's number is drawn Thursday will determine only his place in the class to which he will be assigned, whereas the first drawing

ANOTHER PEACE FEELER PUT OUT BY HUN LEADER

Amsterdam, June 26.—Germany's war aims were briefly set forth, the idea that she desired to secure world domination through the war disclaimed, and the responsibility for the conflict primarily placed upon Russia by Dr. Richard von Kuehlmann, the German foreign secretary, in a speech in the reichstag in Berlin yesterday.

While declaring that what was desired for the German people and their allies was a "free, strong, independent existence," within the boundaries drawn for them "by history," the foreign secretary said Germany would have to decline to make any prior concessions by stating her position as to Belgium in a way which would bind her without similarity, binding Germany's enemies.

"Despite the brilliant successes of our arms," continued the secretary, "there has been nowhere clearly recognizable among our enemies readiness for peace."

Only Camouflage.

Washington, June 26.—German's latest declaration of war aims, as enunciated in the Berlin reichstag by Dr. von Kuehlmann, minister for foreign affairs, was regarded by officials here as merely another phase in Germany's old cycle of military drives and peace offensives.

In the official view, Dr. von Kuehlmann's only new contribution was the attempt to fasten principal responsibility for planning the war upon Russia, the only great nation whose power has been broken by the Teutonic military and propaganda machines.

NEUTRALS BETTER KEEP HANDS OFF

London, June 26.—Neutral leaders may seize upon the recent speeches of Foreign Secretary Balfour and Foreign Minister Von Kuehlmann as an excuse for proposing mediation, according to an Amsterdam despatch to the Express today.

"It is understood that as a result of the Balfour and Von Kuehlmann speeches being considered, as an invitation for neutral mediation, proposing a reasonable peace, the Queen of Holland, the Kings of Spain and Scandinavia, the president of Switzerland, or the governments of those countries, may soon offer mediation," the despatch said. "Neutral leaders already have conferred on the subject."

INCREASED FREIGHT RATES NOW IN EFFECT

Increased freight rates on all railroads went into effect Tuesday, June 25.

The raise, made by the government, affects all railroads, since all railroads are now operated by the government. New rates have been received by local freight agents and have been added to the freight starting Tuesday.

The new rate calls for a 25 per cent increase on all freight and the minimum rate has been raised from 25 cents, under the old rate, to 50 cents for freight shipped from now on.

This affects all shipments, regardless of small weight or size.

Washington, June 26.—A cooperative grocery store, for workers in the Post Office Department, has been established here by Mrs. A. S. Burlison, wife of the postmaster general, only workers in the department are eligible for membership which costs $1.00 a year, and a charge of five per cent is added to the cost of the goods so that the establishment may be self-sustaining.

ITALIANS NOW ESTABLISHED ON ORIGINAL LINE

With the Italian Armies in the Field, June 25.—(Night)—With the Italians re-established on their original line, it is now a question whether they will be able to continue their offensive pressure or will be compelled to return to the defensive.

Despite the success of the limited counter-offensive begun by the Italians on the mountain front, it is known that the Austrians have concentrated their remaining reserves there, and the Italians may soon be forced to change their tactics in that region.

The Austrian losses are now estimated at 250,000. Of these it is reported that fully 20,000 were drowned in the retreat across the upper Piave. The thirty-first and thirty-second Austrian rifle regiments covered the enemy retreat until only eighty men remained unwounded. Then they surrendered. General Von Kronstadt, their commander shot himself.

The Italian booty included several batteries, hundreds of machine guns and thousands of prisoners.

The body of Major Baracca, the famous Italian aviator, was found at the foot of Montello crest beside his burned machine. He had committed suicide to avoid capture.

London, June 26.—The Italians, striking northward into the Venetian mountains in conjunction with their counter-offensive along the Piave, have won initial advantages, the official statement shows. Heavy artillery concentrations are aiding the Italians in this new drive. The Italian war office claimed successes on the Asiago plateau and in the Montegrappa sector. Even in the Tonalé pass region, near the Swiss frontier, the Italians defeated the enemy.

The west bank of the Piave has been entirely cleared of Austrians, Rome declared, the enemy's last covering forces surrendering.

The operations on all fronts won the Italians 3,060 additional prisoners.

The Austrian war office stated that the front between the Asiago and the Piave is the scene of violent battles.

"Bitter fighting" was reported at Monte Di Valbella, Asolone, Solapolo, Col. Del Rosso and Montepertica.

Vienna claimed a total of fifty thousand Italian prisoners since the offensive began and said the "lowest estimate of the Italian losses was 150,000."

Regarding the retreat across the Piave, the Austrians said the movement was carried out "in accordance with plans and without loss of materials."

The German war office again claimed the capture of French and Americans in the Luneville sector.

"East of Badonvillers yesterday morning, we captured more than sixty Franco-Americans," the statement said.

British colonials, operating on the Flanders front, advanced one thousand yards on a two thousand yard front, at Meteren, taking seventy-five prisoners.

The Paris night communique reported successful French raids between the Aisne and the Oise.

FRENCH WASHDAYS FINE FOR SAMMIES

By Frank J. Taylor

With the American Expeditionary Forces at the Front, June 1. (By Mail).—What an American soldier doesn't know about washing clothes will not be worth knowing, if this war lasts many months more.

Not that the doughboys are taught laundering, or have to wash their clothes, either. Thereby hangs a tale.

The village of northern France, where many Americans are serving, do not have all the new fangled modern improvements, such as laundries and washing machines, so common in America. If they did have them, the new-fangled things probably would not be used, because their operation would require more new-fangled ideas.

In northern France when wash-day rolls around usually any day of the week, rather than just Monday, the family washing is taken to the village stream. Here without a washboard, as America knows it, and usually with just any old board or flat stone, the laundress of the family soaks scrub, beats, and squeezes the clothes until they are clean. It beats card parties and back-yard fences for spreading the gossip; too, and is practical because time is not lost.

Not a few family laundresses are daughters of the blossoming age. Hence the popularity of these "wash ing bees" with the doughboy. He picks up a few words of French and joins in the conversation, so far as his vocabulary permits. He is always popular, and is the guest of honor always "among those present." It is a common sight to see several doughboys gathered around the village washing place.

Now and then some "natural-born lady killer" is allowed to scrub a few clothes for a pretty French damsel. These chaps are the envy of the company, and incidentally they are the ones that the French girls think would make good husbands.

BRITISH AIRMEN DO GREAT DAMAGE IN BOMBING RAID

London, June 26.—Great damage was done by British airmen in bombing raids on Karlsruhe, Saarbrücken and Offenberg yesterday morning, the air minister announced today.

Four enemy planes were brought down, while three British machines are missing.

"On the morning of June 25, attacks were successfully carried out against the railway sidings and factories at Saarbrücken, the engine sheds and barracks at Offenberg and the explosives works and railway station at Karlsruhe," the statement said.

"Many direct hits were observed. In the course of many attacks by hostile airplanes on our machines, two of the enemy were shot down and two others driven down. Three of our machines are missing, one of which is known to have been forced to land in the enemy's lines with engine trouble."

WILSON OPPOSED TO EXTENSION OF DRAFT AGES

Washington, June 26.—Extension of draft age to include men between the ages of 20 and 40 years may be held up until next session by suggestion of President Wilson and Secretary Baker.

The president is understood to oppose modifying the age limits this session. Secretary Baker conferred today with members of the senate military committee and is said to have conveyed this word to the legislators, adding his own concurrence in the president's views.

The senate recognizes the necessity for changing ages although a few members are clinging to the idea that because ten million or more have been registered it ought to be possible to draft all the men needed from among this number. Repeated warnings that class one, made up of those without dependants, is shortly to be depleted, have failed to convince these senators. Some of them are opposing the change on the ground that they don't believe the war department wants it. The war department has so far failed to express its wishes to congress.

If the draft age question can be disposed of today the $12,000,000 army bill will pass.

MIGHT BE WORSE

"Everything might be worse than it is," says the poet, and so he has composed a litany. Each regiment has a different version, but always with the same basis. One version reads:

Of two things, one is certain: either you are mobilized or you are not mobilized. If you are not mobilized, there is no need to worry; if you are mobilized, of two things one is certain: either you are behind the lines or you are on the front. If you are behind the lines, there is no need to worry. If you are on the front, of two things, one is certain: either you are exposed to danger. If you're resting in a safe place there's no need to worry. If you are exposed to danger, of two things one is certain: either you are wounded or you're not wounded. If you're not wounded there is no need to worry. If you are wounded one of two things is certain: either you're wounded seriously or you're wounded slightly. If you're wounded slightly, there is no need to worry. If you're wounded seriously, of two things one is certain: either you recover or you die. If you recover there is no need to worry; if you die, you can't worry.—The Amex Marine.

XENIA CHAUTAUQUA JULY 24-30, 1918

Because of their presence and importance during Chautauqua week, special interest is attached to the announcement of the Superintendent, Morning Hour Lecturer and Children's Worker for the present season. Mott R. Sawyers is to be the platform manager. R. E. Kline will give the morning lecture series and Miss Vivian Young is to direct the work of the Junior Chautauqua. The Xenia Chautauqua will be held July 24-30.

Mr. Sawyers, who comes here as superintendent, is an excellent speaker, as well as a platform manager. He is a graduate of Parsons College in Iowa and of Princeton Theological Seminary. For several years he was general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Davenport, Iowa. Later he was transferred to Cincinnati. For six seasons M. Sawyers was a lecturer on one of the Redpath circuits in the western states.

Thru many seasons of experience on the Chautauqua circuit, Mr. Kline is able to choose subject matter that combines interest and instruction. His series here this summer will include: "What Do You Think When You Think?" "Who Owns Your Business?" "What Shall the Family Do?" "What Shall We Do With the Public Schools?" and "A Man's Thinking and his Religion." His popular afternoon lecture is "The Challenge of the American Mind." For two years Mr. Kline was secretary of the National Speech Arts Association. A year ago he resigned as Dean of the department of Public Speaking in the Columbia College of Expression, Chicago, to establish the Pattison Kline Studio.

Miss Young's early education was secured in the schools of Phoenix, Arizona, her home city. She is a graduate of the department of expression, Arizona School of Music, and also of the Columbia College in Chicago. For her graduation recital at the latter institution she read "Monsieur Beaucare." She took a leading part in every play put on by her class at the Columbia School, and from time to time has given public recitals before clubs, lodges and church audiences in Chicago.

MOTORAIDS

Driving in warm weather imposes a different set of conditions on the car than those which exist in cold weather. The car should not be expected to perform with the equipment of cold weather, in the summer time.

The change in conditions affect every part of the car, from the radiator to the rear axle. It affects the radiator because, in all probability, a non-freezing solution has been used during the winter, and after the danger of freezing weather has gone by, this should all be drained off.

The cooling system should then be flushed out with a solution of washing soda and boiling water. The way this is done is to first drain the radiator, then run through a complete filling of plain-boiling water, after which this is also drained and the cooling system filled with soda solution. About two heaping hands full of soda to a bucket of boiling water is sufficient in the cooling system. This not only takes the scales from the radiator, but also cleans out any last traces of the cooling solution. The motor is then started and run a few minutes with the soda solution.

Remember that a tire with too much air in it, loses all the benefits of a pneumatic tire, as it makes a hard riding car and shakes the mechanism too much, shortening its life. There is but little danger of exploding the tire as air pressure systems rarely run above one hundred and twenty five pounds. The only disadvantage of a hard tire is its bad effects on the car and its occupants.

Occasionally the interrupter becomes loose and it is important that the beginner should learn to set it. The trouble is shown by the fact that the engine will not start when cranked, but gives only one or two explosions. Where an engine has been running properly and the trouble suddenly develops, inspect the interrupter immediately.

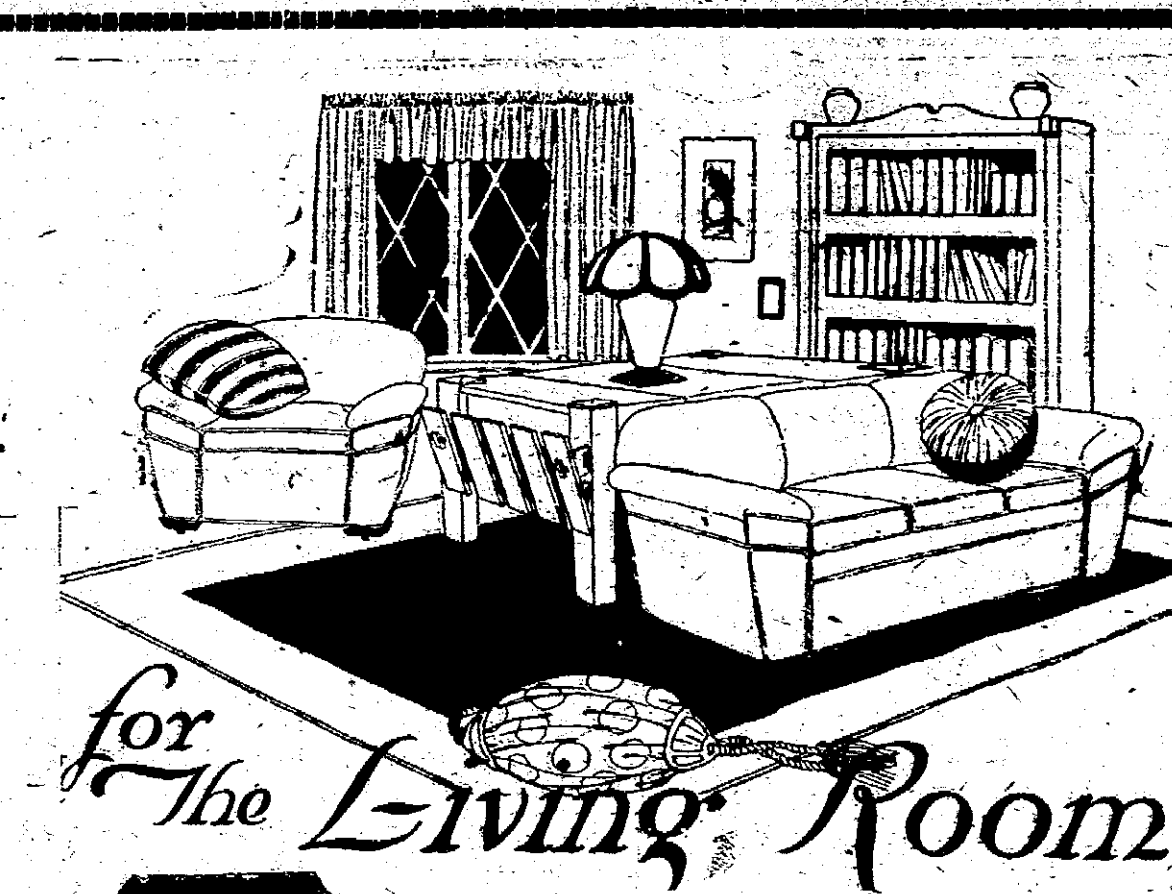

A well tuned car is one, all the parts of which, are in the most advantageous adjustment, and free from abnormal relationships. On the other hand, the mechanism of an untuned car may be structurally intact and potentially in an operative condition, but its various functions may be so disorganized that its performance is almost nil.

THE FIGHTING AGE.

They seem young, those boys of nineteen to twenty-one, who are now registered for military service. We know, however, if we have looked into the matter, that they are really mature men, compared with many of the boys who composed our civil war armies. Still we are inclined to regard many of them, and especially do their fathers and mothers regard them, as little more than children, and think it a pity that they should so soon be obliged to undergo the hardships of military life.

But yet, when we come to think of it, that is a mistaken view. Ask any well informed physician when a man is at the height of his physical powers. Ask any practical psychologist when a man is best fitted mentally for fighting business. Ask any philosopher? Ask any student of history. They will tell you that just about this age a man has a combination of fighting powers unequalled before or after.

It is the football age, the age when men make their records in athletics. There is bodily strength, nervous energy, ability to recuperate quickly. There is a spirit of competition, a love of adventure. There is a disregard of consequences that comes partly from the natural vigor of youth and partly from the fact that the man has not yet assumed sobering responsibilities. He is seldom hampered by family ties or business obligations. He has not yet taken a fixed place in the world of people and work. He is free, with a love of combat, and a matchless equipment for combat.

It is the fighting age par excellence. You who are older, don't pity those lads as they march off to war. They are better men than you are, for the work in hand, and they will have the time of their lives doing it.

One of the noblest of motives is the public good. These young men have been fired with patriotism. Scarce one of them but has well weighed in his own mind what his duty is, in this world crisis, and has let his conscience settle the question for him. That is the sum we all must work out, and when duty calls he is more than a slacker who does not answer: "Here am I."

TAXES vs. LOANS.

Germany has raised less than 4 per cent of her war expenses from taxation. The war is thus almost entirely financed by mortgaging her national resources. The mortgage already amounts to about half her wealth.

Italy has raised 15 per cent of her war cost by taxation and the rest by loans. France has raised about 16 per cent by taxation, and Great Britain nearly 20 per cent.

The United States proposes to raise no less than 40 per cent by taxation.

The war budget for next year is estimated at $24,000,000,000. Deducting $6,000,000,000 for loans to our allies, we have an actual expenditure of $18,000,000,000, of which congress expects to raise $8,000,000,000 by taxes and the rest by bond issues. Of this $8,000,000,000 about $6,400,000,000 is to come from war profits and incomes.

The total budget is beyond any expenditure ever made by any nation. The huge sum of $8,000,000,000 is far more than anybody ever dreamed of collecting from any people by taxation in one year. But there is no question of our being able to pay that much out of our current income, without crippling our industry and finance.

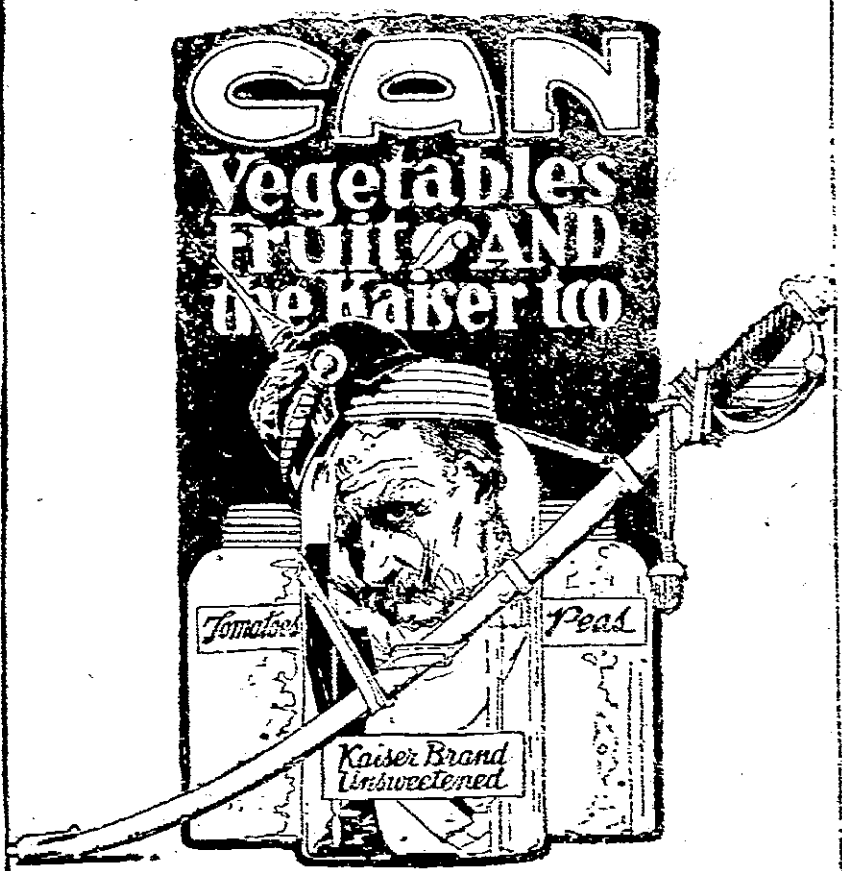

It is sound policy, too. We shall be in the best plight of all, and Germany will be in the worst. We shall be solvent, with our war bonds in big demand, and Germany will be bankrupt.

That will be our second victory. Even if the present German government survives the war, it will hardly survive national bankruptcy.

PERFECT WOMANHOOD

Perfect womanhood depends on perfect health. Beauty and a good disposition both vanish before pain and suffering. A great menace to a woman's happiness in life is the suffering that comes from some functional derangement, which soon develops headaches, backache, nervousness and "the blues." For such suffering, women find help in that famous, old, and reliable remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for three generations has been restoring health to women of America.

Letters From Our Soldiers

Letters for this column from Greene county's soldiers are solicited. No matter whether the letter is from a soldier in the training camp or from the battle trenches it is of interest, not only to his close friends but to the general public. Therefore if you receive a letter from a soldier and it contains interesting news pass it along to the newspaper and we will publish it so all his friends may enjoy it. Soldiers are also invited to write directly to the newspaper.

Several interesting letters have been received by Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Bradfute of this county, from their son, David, who is in Co. A, of the 319th Field Sig. Battalion, in France. The first letter was mailed "somewhere off the mid-Atlantic, when they were three days out from port. He described the hurry and bustle about the embarkation camp, just previous to departure in the early part of the letter, and continues:

"Needless to say, we are not traveling first-class. Officers travel first, high ranking non-coms second and the rest of us, third. We found our quarters to be in the extreme stern of the ship and away down on the 'G' level, below the water line. The propeller are right beside us.

"The berths are canvas hammocks swung from iron pipes that look like stanchions. Can you imagine three berths to a section in a Pullman car and about half the width of a Pullman berth? Well, that is the way we are fixed. I can assure you, there is no wasted space. There is no room to sit down, so we spend most of our working hours on deck. However, I am writing this lying in my berth.

"This afternoon, Wednesday, was put on guard. Shortly afterward we were ordered to clear the decks and keep inside ourselves. I was up on the upper deck watching a doorway and had a small crack where I could peep out as the ship slipped her moorings and went out of the harbor. As soon as we were out of port, the soldiers were let out on the deck again. I spent part of the night on guard and the rest of it asleep on deck near my post where I could be awakened easily. We are fortunate in getting on one of the largest boats in the transport service, nearly 800 feet long, 20,000 horse power, over 20 miles per hour, and heavily armed.

"Thursday—The sea was very smooth today as the ship has almost no motion sideways. I mean less than many railroad trains. The smoke of other ships is almost always visible on the horizon and sometimes the ships themselves. There is another large ship traveling along beside us at present, so we get an excellent opportunity to observe how a ship looks at sea.

"Today I saw my first whale, a rather small one, it is true, and off quite a distance, but nevertheless a genuine sure enough whale. It came up and swam along the surface and blew its nose several times, and finally sank out of sight. Some of the fellows said they saw some flying fish but that is one show I missed.

Two Days Later.

"Nothing happens—The ocean is very calm, much calmer than I had supposed the ocean ever got. If it continues like this I don't believe sea-sickness will be one of my worries. Still there is plenty of time for it to get rough. The scenery is unique in that no matter which side of the ship you look off of, you see exactly the same.

Next Day.

"This morning when we got up it was as calm as ever but by noon the sea had begun to get choppy. By about three o'clock some of the fellows had become a pale green color.

and were keeping as little in evidence as possible while others were openly sick and showed it. I felt a little wobbly myself—not sick you understand, but just as if there was some sort of gap between the upper and lower portions of my anatomy. It only lasted about twenty minutes in my case though and by supper time I felt fine again and was able properly to do my duty by the supper. Saw a school of porpoises today, there must have been a dozen or more of them but really all we could see was an occasional splash made by their tails striking the water.

Monday.

"The sea was smooth again this morning and the sun shining. They had target practice today and believe me I'd hate to have those 'birds' shoot at me. It was the first time I had ever heard a gun of larger calibre, than a 30-30 and I've been in the army eight months. They really don't make as much noise as I had been led to believe they would.

"This evening it is raining and fine sea is getting rough. If it keeps on I feel it in my bones that tomorrow's chapter of this chronicle will be lacking.

"I don't know how much of this stuff the censor will let get by, but I'm letting him do the worrying, if there is anything he don't like he has merely to use his scissors. This is my first censored letter and we have had no definite instructions except not to say anything about the numbers, destination or organizations concerned in troop movements and the names of ships and forces, so anything I am in doubt about I put in and if it is taboo, the censor can take it out.

Two Days Later.

"Just as I thought, there somehow seemed to be no inclination for me to write yesterday. The ocean had gotten choppy by morning and continued so all day and night. It did not affect me as bad as some but plenty had enough. I never fed the fishes and missed only one meal, but believe me I felt like missing several. It wasn't so bad as I thought it was going to be. I didn't hear of anyone who wanted to die or anything like that.

"The ocean has become smooth again so there is now no more trouble. If one were feeling fit to enjoy it it certainly would have been funny. Some of the officers came out on deck with their complexions of a pale green color. It must have been very hard for them, for seasickness is not at all conducive to that dignified and authoritative mien which is considered proper for an officer to wear when in the proximity of enlisted men.

Next Day.

"We are now approaching the danger zone and so now that our voyage is almost at an end, I think it will be in to be censored now, so it will get off as soon as possible after we reach port. I'll write again as soon as possible after we disembark."

She Didn't Accept.

"I ask you to be my wife. I don't know of any greater compliment I can give you." "Well, we'll take it as a compliment, Ferd, and let it go at that."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE IN XENIA IS WELL ATTENDED

An audience of between 400 and 500 persons was present at the opera house Tuesday evening to hear the lecture of Virgil O. Strickler, C. S. B., on the subject of "Christian Science."

Mr. Strickler is a member of the board of lecturership of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. Mr. Strickler in his lecture said:

"As it becomes more generally understood that through the ministry of Christian Science people are being healed of sickness, sin, unhappiness, worry, fear, and other discordant conditions, there is an ever-increasing desire upon the part of the general public to learn how these results are accomplished. It is the purpose of this lecture to explain how Christian Science does these things. There is no mystery about Christian Science healing, nor is it difficult to understand. It can be stated without any reservation whatever that every person who is willing to do so may learn how to heal sickness and to destroy the desire to sin for himself and others through Christian Science.

"It is said that there are more than two hundred different kinds of the Christian religion alone, not to mention the hundreds of other forms of religions that are not Christian. It is a fact that people do entertain widely differing religious beliefs. In many instances the differences are irreconcilable, and yet every one believes with all of the sincerity of which he is capable that his own particular beliefs are true. It must be conceded that, in the main, all people are equally honest and equally sincere in their religious beliefs. The only reason why they are grouped together in different forms of religions is because they honestly believe that through their own particular form of religion they will find the good which they so earnestly desire.

"As one considers the subject of religion from this broad viewpoint it becomes entirely plain that most of the people in the world are believing as their religion many things that are not true.

"True religion consists of spiritual truth, and not of erroneous beliefs; hence it follows that one's religion is limited to the amount of spiritual truth he knows, and that erroneous religious beliefs are only so many delusions that serve no other purpose than to obstruct spiritual growth.

"Christian Science aims to destroy erroneous religious beliefs by substituting a knowledge of truth in place thereof, and to destroy out of the human mind all evil qualities by planting good qualities in their stead. It wages relentless warfare against all wrong mental qualities. It seeks to substitute love in place of hate, unselfishness in place of selfishness, honesty in place of dishonesty, and truth in place of error. It lays tremendous emphasis upon the necessity for 'bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ.' (11 Cor. x. 5) as the Bible commands. It shows that the cause of all disease and sin is mental, and not physical, and that both sickness and sin are destroyed by the evangelization of the human mentality with truth and love. It teaches without any reservation whatever that the truth taught and practiced by Jesus, when understood and applied is sufficient without drugs or any material means to heal the sick and regenerate the sinner, and Christian Scientists everywhere are engaged daily in demonstrating and proving this to be true.

"Mrs. Eddy is acknowledged to be the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, and many people ask what it is that she has discovered. In reply it can be said that she has discovered the law of Spirit which is spiritual truth.

"Mrs. Eddy discovered the law of Spirit as truly as Sir Isaac Newton discovered the law of gravitation, and this fact should be thoroughly understood. Just as Newton discovered that the movements of material bodies are regulated and governed by this material law, so Mrs. Eddy discovered the Principle that governs the entire universe, including every detail in the lives of men. That supreme, creative governing, omnipresent Mind or Principle is God, the only cause, the only creator, the only Ruler of man and the universe."

Bijou.

Henry B. Walthall, that artist of the screen has a most interesting vehicle in the sixth Paralta play, "Humdrum Brown," which plays at the Bijou theater, Thursday night. Walthall is supported by Mary Charleston, Kate Price and others.

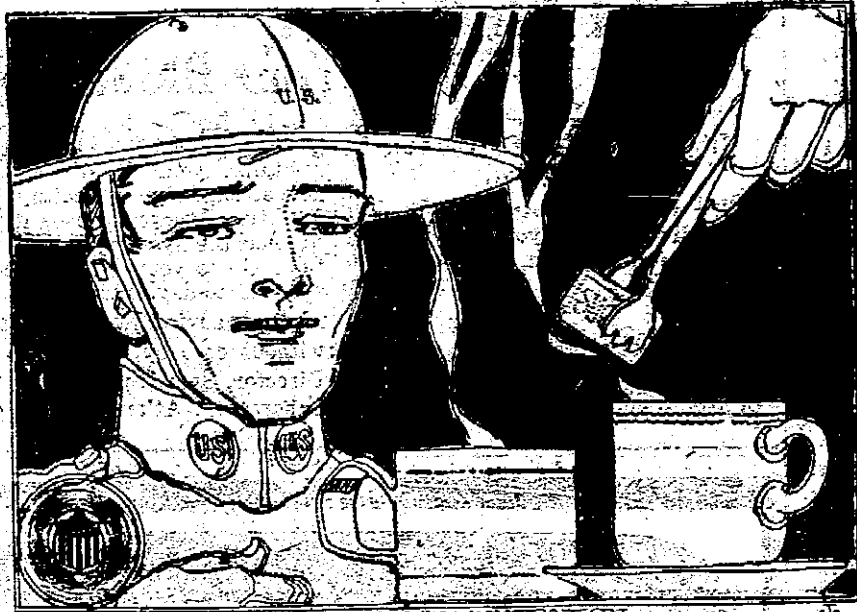

Walthall takes the part of an ambitious young man in a small town who is confined by the narrow ideals of the village and leads the "humdrum" existence of the small town young man. Losing his position in the bank because of the shortcomings of its president is the best thing for him for he leaves the small town and finds a niche in the business world of the big city. Later he meets the bank president in most unusual circumstances. His fight for position is real and wonderfully portrayed.

Orphium.

Carlyle Blackwell has a particularly virile and up-to-date part in the character of the title role of "His Royal Highness," which shows at the Orphium Thursday. As the star football player for Harvard he has an interesting part in which he is supported by Evelyn Greely, Kate Lester, Bert Honey and others.

In Who's Cup?

In whose cup?
Yours or the soldier's?
Are you going to save sugar or are you going to waste it?
Are you going to use the smallest amount of sugar possible, or are you going to continue to use sugar as you did in the days before the war?
Saving sugar here means sugar over there, and ships to carry it, from here to there.
You probably have heard that there is no shortage of sugar, and that the raw sugar output is as big as it has ever been, and someone has told you that there is no need of saving sugar. This is the most insidious sort of German propaganda because it is partly true and partly false.
The shortage in sugar in this country is not due to any shortage in sugar crop, but to a shortage of ships.
Seventy-five per cent. of the sugar used in this country has to be carried here in ships. These same ships are needed to transport our troops, our munitions and the food for the Allies and our soldiers and sailors, to France. Part of these sugar carrying ships have been transferred to more important carrier service. This has resulted in a largely lessened import tonnage of sugar and this means a shortage of sugar here.

Our soldiers and sailors and the Allies must be supplied with sugar. That supply must come out of our limited supply here.
No law has been asked to compel the individual to apportion his supply of sugar in a sensible, logical and unselfish manner.
The Food Administration merely ASKS you to save.
What are you going to do about it?

Have you a horse or cow you want to sell or trade.
Do you want to sell or buy a hog or dispose of some farm machinery. Do you want to rent a farm or do you want a tenant?

GREENE COUNTY WORKERS READY FOR GREAT THRIFT STAMP DRIVE

Winged Messengers Which Will Carry the Result to Columbus.

The dawning of Friday, June 28, will sound the "alert," which will cause workers all over the county to spring into action for the benefit of the one-day Thrift Stamp Campaign. Workers under County Chairman M. J. Hartley are prepared for active service on the battle-front of the campaign for War Savings, and are anxious and ready for the beginning of the campaign which will start them to work. By the time the sun has set Friday evening, it is hoped to have a major portion of the $600,000 quota for this county well pledged.

Carrier pigeons will convey the result of the local campaign to the State Headquarters in Columbus, the pigeons being sent here for the purpose of being released by the County Chairman, Mr. Hartley, as soon as tentative returns indicate to just what extent Greene County people have shown their patriotism.

To the front in three Liberty Loan campaigns and again to the fore in the campaigns of the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., the K. of C., and other separate activities, it is hardly possible that Greene County should turn down this appeal of the government for War Savings.

Here is a manner for the "people who stay at home to help the boys over there" directly through the government, that is within everybody's reach. Greene County's quota is $600,000, or $20 per capita, and there are 500 people in this county who could buy $1,000 worth of the stamps. There is no better investment offered, either by the government or any other concern, and money spent for the War Savings Stamps is money saved. Friday is a pledge day and the buyers of the stamps have until December 1 to pay for them. However, the interest is increasing at the rate of one cent a month—to buy at once is the wise thing.

Ohio is ahead of all other states in the matter of buying War Savings Certificates, and it is unfortunate that Greene County, of all counties, should be dragging down the noble father state by being slack in its duties, for Greene is away down in the list of counties. Out of 88 counties in the state, Greene County stands the 77th in the list.

The workers appointed, whose names are given below are expected to stir up considerable agitation in favor of the stamps Friday, however, that will carry old Greene County "over the top."

LARGE ESTATE IS LEFT BY AVIATOR

The will of Lieutenant Frank Stuart Patterson of Dayton, who was killed when his airplane crashed to the earth at Wright field was filed for probate in Montgomery county Tuesday. The will disposes of the large estate which the young aviator inherited from his father, and is unique because of the large number of bequests made to personal friends. It was executed just four months and one day prior to the date of his tragic death.

Among the bequests is one to the fresh air farm near Bellbrook, of five United States Liberty bonds of the first issue, valued $500, and five shares of the stock of the National Cash Register Company. Miss Nanie Welsh an employe for years in the Patterson household, a former Xenia woman, receives $1,000 by the terms of the will.

PEACE MOVE IS REGARDED AS INSINCERE

Washington, June 26.—Von Kuehlmann's latest peace offensive is regarded officially here like its predecessors—unacceptable and insincere. State department and other authorities gave scant thought or discussion. They did make it clear, though, that the United States will not harken for a minute to such an appeal which apparently has the plunder of Russia as its foundation.

Allied diplomats used it as a text for further urgings in favor of Russian intervention.

As predicted a few days ago by the United Press, this latest peace offensive is intended evidently to lay the groundwork for concessions in the west, provided Germany could have a free hand in the east.

Its attempt to lay the blame of starting the war upon Russia is considered a palpable foundation for a drive to annex Russia, as a Teuton territory, or exploit it under German control.

SMALL PIECES OF HUN BATTLE PLANE SENT AS A TROPHY

Guy R. Garman, former Xenian, who is with the 166th Regiment, Ohio's unit in the Rainbow Division, sent to a Xenia friend an interesting war trophy, a small piece of the linen wings of a German airplane, which came down in flames within the American lines. The linen fragment is scorched slightly, and shows a portion of the painted black cross.

"Mr. Garman says that everybody 'over there' is extremely optimistic now regarding the outcome of the war. He also says 'we are making another United States out of this country,' and that things 'over there' are vastly different from what they were when the U. S. soldiers went over."

OHIO ELECTRIC CO. SUED FOR $20,000

James F. Miller of Bath township, brought suit for $20,000 damages against The Ohio Electric Railway company today for personal injuries sustained while he was a passenger on a car of the defendant company, at Wright field, last February 23.

The petitioner recites that he was standing on the steps of the car waiting to alight as the car slowed up at Wright field, and that the defendant caused the car to be stopped so negligently and carelessly that he was thrown from the steps between the car and the trailer, the latter running over him. His right leg was cut off below the hip, and his left foot cut off near the heel. M. A. Broadstone and McGrew and Laybourne attorneys.

WHEAT CROP IN GREENE COUNTY NOT UP TO STANDARD

Greene county's wheat crop which was expected to be very good, is proving exceedingly disappointing in several cases which has come under the notice of the agriculture authorities.
A. L. Gilbert living near Bellbrook asked authority from the Greene County Food commission this week to turn his hogs into a wheat field on his farm which has been virtually destroyed by black rust. Mr. Gilbert called a thresherman to look at the wheat and he refused to take the job of threshing the grain, even if he were given all the wheat. In order that the field would not prove a total loss, Mr. Gilbert asked the food commission for permission to let his hogs consume it. County Agent Ford Prince was present when the field was examined by the thresherman.
The exceedingly hot weather of the early spring was effectual in burning out part of the heads of the wheat in some instances.

NEAR-BY BEAUTY SPOTS OVERLOOKED BY AUTO PARTIES

Leaving out the words, "Clinton County" and "Wilmington" in the following article, which appeared in the automobile section of the Wilmington News, the story can be applied to almost any county or community in this section of the state. It is of general interest and of particular interest to Greene County motorists, as it mentions two of Greene County's beauty spots.

There are hundreds of automobile owners who reside in Clinton County who have never taken a trip to Ft. Ancient, which is about 20 miles from Wilmington.

Here is a park that is owned by the state and kept for the entertainment of visitors, yet there are thousands of people who reside in Southern Ohio who have not made a trip to the beautiful old place.

There are some people who are never satisfied with anything that is found near home. They wander all over the country for sight-seeing, meanwhile ignoring things in their own neighborhood that are notable.

This year the railroads ask citizens to forego traveling by rail as much as possible, and this would be a good time to see things near home.

Another trip that is worth while is a visit to Serpent Mound, down in Adams county. Have you ever been there? If not, and you have an auto, mobile, you have missed getting the most use from your machine—or we should say the best use. Then have you ever driven to the Highland county caves, not far from Bainbridge? that is still another nice trip.

We would suggest another. We have been surprised at the number of people who have never seen the cliffs at Clifton, which is only a few miles from Wilmington. It is 16 miles to Jamestown, seven more to Cedarville, and only four from there to Clifton. Drive through Clifton on down to the Neff Grounds, where there is a regular picnic grounds. Look about you and you will imagine you are thousands of miles from old Clinton County.—Wilmington News.

OUR GOVERNMENT FOOD CONTROL EXPERT SAYS "DO NOT WASTE YOUR FOOD."

THOUSANDS OF TONS OF FOOD ARE WASTED THROUGH IMPROPER DIGESTION OF FOOD.

Many persons are using a new system of food digestion, not only because our government's food expert says that we shall conserve the food, but also, because the high price of food stuffs compels retrenchment. They find that a little food well digested will go farther and do more good than a large quantity poorly digested.

Pepsinco, this systematic method of digestion is inexpensive and can always be relied upon. It is small and powerful. One little tablet will digest an ordinary meal. Everything will be assimilated. The meal will give you strength. Your entire system will undergo a change for the better; no food will be wasted, since you start this treatment.

Stop at the drug store today and get a small package of Pepsinco, the perfect digestant and make every grain of food do its duty.

Keep your money until you find out how good Pepsinco is. A large free trial package will be sent to you at once.

Mrs. R. says:—If Pepsinco was five dollars a package I would not be without them. They cured me of stomach trouble, I now have them on hand for safety.

You send for a free trial of Pepsinco to-day. The Neuro Pharmacal Company, Wapakoneta, Ohio.

THE WOMAN WHO CHANGED

By JANE PHELPS.

WORKING IN SECRET CHAPTER CXXIII

I had one joy no one could take from me. In secret, behind my locked door, I worked several hours each day on the tiny garments I should need for my baby. I did the most wonderful embroidery, worked dainty patterns upon the sheerest lawn and linen, and was happy as could be, doing it. But when I laid it away and took up my life with others, the thought of what was coming, of what it meant to me because of George, almost sickened me.

I suppose many who read will wonder why I accepted so utterly Julia Collins' speech about children; and why I should have applied it so literally to George. But Julia Collins had not only been held up to me as a pattern, ever since I had been married; I knew positively that I often had been neglected, left alone, while George spent his time with her. I knew that he considered her most attractive, and very much worth while. That her opinion of men was based upon her knowledge of my husband's likes and dislikes, I took for granted. Remember, I was still very young, my environment very different from that to which I had been accustomed at home; my desire to be like these women whom George admired intensely; and then perhaps you will more readily understand how I felt.

I thought of writing mother. Then I knew she would worry about me—that if I wrote her honestly, telling her the conditions—how I felt about things, and the attitude I believed would be my husband's when he knew it would make her most unhappy. So I decided to wait. Later, I would write and beg her to come to me.

So I continued to carry my secret alone. I never again refused to go out with George when he asked me. I was only too anxious to be with him when, and while, I could.

Helen Keeps Her Vow.

I had not cried again. Not when George was at home, or enough so that it could be noticed. Occasionally, when I was sewing, a few tears would drop upon my work; tears of self-pity that I, instead of happily telling those I loved how matters were with me, as Evelyn Reeves had done, must hide it as long as I could. I think I grew a bit morbid over myself, and that made things harder to bear.

We were quite gay, and often I felt, physically unable to do so much—to be quite so constantly on the go. But never since the night when after my refusal to go out with George, when he had been so annoyed with me, had I objected to anything he proposed—or that others proposed—if it seemed agreeable to him.

I danced, I sang, I entertained, and went every where. Then, one night, I fainted. It was at a dinner dance at Julia Collins'. I felt ill before I went. But said nothing, tho Celeste, who, I knew, suspected my condition, urged me to remain at home, telling me I looked terribly ill. But I refused and after I was dressed, and more deftly rouged than I usually was, I looked almost as usual. Even George said nothing except to compliment me on my dress—a lovely, misty tulle I had ordered for the occasion.

They told me afterward that George was dreadfully frightened when I fainted—that he was as white as I was, and that he insisted upon taking me home the moment I recovered.

Helen is ill.

When we reached home, he at once called Celeste and Annie to take care of me, and wanted to call the doctor. But I assured him I was all right and he left me with them.

"I will be in the library. Call me if you need me," he told the maids. I urged them to put out the lights and leave me as soon as I was in bed. "Stop in the library and tell Mr. Howard I am going right to sleep," I told them. I did not wish to be questioned. I was feeling faint and very ill, and feared I might be tempted to confide George.

After the maids left me, I grew steadily worse; once or twice I felt as if I were dying, slipping away, down, down some terrible incline and that I could not stop myself. I must have fainted again. But when George came up I was better, and told him so.

"We have been going too hard," he said as he prepared for bed. "We'll cut out a few invitations, hereafter."

"That will be nice," I agreed. I knew he expected an answer.

George was soon asleep, but I again commenced to feel ill. I said nothing for a long time, then, fearing I was going to faint again, a bit frightened also, I called him.

"I feel very badly, George."

He was out of bed in minute.

"Shall I get a doctor now, Helen?" I should have had one as soon as we reached home. You objected so strenuously, I gave in—foolishly.

"Yes, get the doctor."

To-morrow—Helen is Delirious.

Canada made me Prosperous

—that's what thousands of farmers say, who have gone from the U. S. to settle on homesteads or buy land in Western Canada. Canada's invitation to every industrious worker to settle in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta is especially attractive. She wants farmers to make money and happy, prosperous homes for themselves by helping her raise immense wheat crops to feed the world.

You Can Get a Homestead of 160 Acres FREE or other lands at very low prices. Where you can buy good farm land at $15.00 to $30.00 per acre that will raise 20 to 45 bushels of $2. wheat to the acre—it's easy to become prosperous. Canadian farmers also grow wonderful crops of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed Farming is fully as profitable an industry as grain raising. The excellent grasses, full of nutritious food, are the only food required either for beef or dairy purposes. Good schools and churches, markets convenient, climate excellent. WILLIAM SHADRACH GETS COMMISSION AS FIRST LIEUTENANT

William Shadrach has received his commission as First Lieutenant in the Aviation Branch of the Signal Corps.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shadrach, of North Detroit street, have just received word from their son from France that he has received his commission ranking him as a First Lieutenant of Aviation although he has not yet completed the last long trip necessary in the requirements for a commission.

Lieutenant Shadrach enlisted in the Aviation Branch last fall and received his ground school work at Ohio State University. When he enlisted he was employed by the Goodrich Rubber Company of Akron. He is a graduate of Central High School, and was prominent in High School athletics and popular among a large number of friends who will be glad to hear of his promotion.

Lieutenant Shadrach sustained a bad fall while on a solo flight to qualify for his commission several months ago, but his eye, which was injured at the time, is now much better. His commission was accidentally delayed from March 17 when he was supposed to receive it. He will not be assigned for active duty until he completes one more solo flight and receives his "R. M. A." qualification, which means "Reserve Military Aviation."

CIRCUS IS AID TO GOVERNMENT

Shortage of railroad cars and locomotives insufficient help and the transporting of Uncle Sam's great army to seacoast cities made the outlook for circus managers and owners very dubious. In a few instances the larger railroads partially promised to handle the circus provided the government did not need the engines and crews. That made the prospects of travel very doubtful; account of railroad facilities large quantities of merchandise and materials of all kinds are now being carried by trucks operated by private concerns and by motor express and hauling companies. A shipment can go through by motor when a rail freight or express embargo precludes shipment by rail at all. Manufacturers, coal dealers, construction companies, farmers and many other lines are using the motor trucks and now comes the first and only circus to help Uncle Sam. Amusement is necessary in these troublous times, and the "circus" that great American institution, is the pride of young and old.

This really new and sensational circus and menagerie will visit Xenia Friday, July 5th. Watch for the modern motorized parade at 10:30 a. m. It is one of the wonders of this century. Two performances will be given under the mammoth tents at 2 and 8 p. m. Doors open one hour earlier so the wonderful Zoo can be inspected.

Intimate scenes of camp life, close-ups of the development of a fighting man, moving illustrations of camp activities, social, athletic and otherwise, make the picture "The Remaking of a Nation," doubly interesting to Greene County people whose boys received their preliminary anti-Hun training in Ohio's big cantonment.

Almost every branch of the service and every form of battle-training was represented at Camp Sherman. There was a great motion picture, officially sanctioned by the War Department, which is instructive as it gives intimate knowledge of all this military activity. Boys on the march, in rifle drill on the range, in the bombing pits, learning trench warfare, and at play—boxing, wrestling, playing baseball, football and many of the other things which help keep camp life from getting monotonous, are carefully shown. The buildings where the boys congregate are scenes of hilarity and the boys have little trouble amusing themselves in the K. of C. or Y. M. C. A.

The picture is being shown for the benefit of the Red Cross and the small admission of 25 cents without war tax is charged.

The McClellan Hospital will be closed for an indefinite period following the discharge of the last of the patients now under treatment there. No new patients are being received.

Lieutenant B. E. McClellan, head of the hospital, has been called into active war service in the base hospital at Fort Hill, St. Paul Island, and the hospital will probably remain closed until he is relieved of war duty. Mr. McClellan had decided at first to keep the hospital running, but owing to the fact that his son, Schuyler McClellan, who was left in charge of the institution, is entering a branch of the service, he concluded to close the hospital temporarily.

The McClellan is one of the best known of the smaller hospitals in this part of the state, and has a wide patronage.

A big blue heron which flew over the woodland on the farm of Frank McClellan on the Van Eaton road Monday evening and frightened the chickens, was brought down by the fire by Vance Gage, who thought the bird an eagle. The bird which was far away from its native haunts, measured six feet from tip to tip of wings and 6 feet 9 inches from tip of bills to toes. It was brought to Xenia by F. F. Fuikerson Tuesday afternoon. The body will be sent to a taxidermist to be mounted.

The heron is a water bird, feeding chiefly on fish.

The guarantors of the Xenia-Chautauqua, who have undertaken the sale of the tickets this year, report that the tickets are meeting with a ready sale. One lady sold fifteen tickets before nine o'clock Tuesday morning and others report sales of nearly all of their allotment of tickets.

The Chautauqua program this year is of unusual merit and it is predicted that the entertainment this year will be far superior to any that Xenia has thus far enjoyed. The majority of the numbers are of patriotic nature in compliance with the request of the government that the Chautauqua company preach the "gospel of patriotism" from the platform. Programs for the Chautauqua have arrived and persons selling tickets or anyone else interested may secure them by calling upon City Auditor Roy Hayward at the city building.

Childrens tickets are in the possession of John W. Prugh and can be secured from him. Guarantors who have not yet received their allotment of adult tickets may get them from C. F. Coffee dealers have received word from Alfred H. Beckmann, Secretary of the National Wholesale Grocers' association, that certain newspaper accounts of his speech at Cleveland last week quoting him as saying the country will dispense with the use of coffee that ships may be used to transport troops and supplies to Europe had been distorted.

"At the Cleveland meeting I mentioned the fact that ships now used for transporting coffee and spices to this country might be utilized to advantage for conveying food to the allies and our boys over there, even if we had to drink less coffee or do without it, which latter would not seem necessary under existing conditions with no apparent danger of profiteering." Mr. Beckman wired.

A telegram from Washington last Monday denied a report that coffee had been placed under the ban.

After catching for 15 years playing for Louisville, Pittsburg, New York City, Brooklyn and Baltimore of the National League and taking part in over 1,200 championship games he retired from the diamond to become player scout for the Pittsburg club, a position he held for two years traveling through every state in the union.
